Supreme Court Sustains His Sentence for Assaulting Judge

Ward. GATTIS-KILGO

It Comes Up for the Fourth Time. Penny-in-the-Slot

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
RALEIGH, N. C., September 27.—The

Supreme Court, in an opinion just detyored orders a new trial in the case of the Corporation Commission vs. the of the Corporation Commission vs. the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company, involving the right of the commission to compel the railroad to place track scales at the plant of the Dennis Simmons Lumber Company, near Elm Clty. In the trial below the judge sustained the demurrer of the railroad company to the evidence, and held that the commission had no right to make an order for the track scales. Chief Justice Clark writes the opinion of the Supreme Court, reversing this and directing that the case be given to a jury on the facts.

Associate Justice Walker writes the opinion of the court in the sensational contempt case of ex-Mayor McCown, of by Judge Ward for assaulting him while Durham, who was fined and imprisoned he was holding the Durham court recently. The opinion consists of twenty-eight pages typewritten. Briefly stated. Its sustains Judge Ward's course, declaring the conclusion of the court to be that the conduct of McCown was a direct coneight pages typewritten. Briefly stated, it sustains Judge Ward's course, declaring the conclusion, of the court to be that the conduct of McCown was a direct contempt of the court, as much so as if the assault had been made when the judge was sitting on the bench in open court. The court commends highly the conduct of Judge Ward at the time the assault was made, saying that it was the most perfect example that could be presented to the people of one of their chosen representatives in judiciary station, who, tested by the severest ordeal, admirably sustained its dignity, and by, his own submission and self-restraint enhanced the respect due the power and majesty of the law.

the respect due the power and majory of the law.

GATTIS-KILGO CASE.

An additional time of three hours to each side has been allowed by the Supreme Court in the argument of the Gattle vs. Kilgo case, which comes up for argument for the fourth time in the Supreme Court next week. The order has just been made on the ground that the records are so voluminous and the briefs so necessarily long that counsel cannot present the case in the usual time allowed. A RACE MEETING AT

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO. September 27.—Plans for a race meeting, which was to have opened at Libertyville track, near here, next Saturday, were abandoned to-day. Activity of Governor Deneen and Lake county officials toward the suppression of possible pool selling at the track is said to have influenced the move on the part of the track managers.
